- Notes for Figures 1, 2, 3
- Social Relations was the most popular concentration for women in Cohort 1 but was eliminated by Cohort 2. Women in Cohort 1 also disproportionately majored in English.
- Psychology grew for female majors from Cohorts 1 to 2; Economics rose for men from Cohorts 1 to 2 and Government did for men from Cohorts 2 to 3.
- Concentrations are very unbalanced by gender.
- Remember: Cohort 1 is graduating classes 1969-73; Cohort 2 is 1979-82; Cohort 3 is 1989-92.

- Notes for Figure 4. Very satisfied = very and extremely satisfied; Unsatisfied = unsatisfied, very unsatisfied, and extremely unsatisfied.
- Majority of Harvard undergraduates expressed great satisfaction across all three cohorts.
- Satisfaction rose across the three cohorts for both men and women.
- Men were more satisfied with their undergraduate experiences than were women in Cohorts 1 and 2. But by Cohort 3 women were more pleased than men.
