INVESTIGATORS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE FOLLOWING:

1. Procedural changes or amendments must be reported to the Committee in advance. No changes may be made without Committee approval except to eliminate apparent immediate hazards to the subject. Minor changes may be approvable by expedited review; major changes may require action at an assembled Committee meeting.
2. Continuation of subject participation beyond the approval period requires renewal of approval by separate application. It is the investigator's responsibility to submit renewal requests in a timely fashion.
3. Should there be reason to think that a subject is suffering or has suffered any harm, anticipated or not, as a result of participation, the investigator must suspend the research and report to the Committee. The research shall not resume without Committee approval.

5. Approval confirms that the project as proposed is not in conflict with the Committee's rules and regulations, but it does not imply endorsement or sponsorship by the University. Although investigators may indicate their position at Harvard, they shall not represent that the research is sponsored by the University or a department within the University except by explicit arrangement with appropriate administrative authorities.
