Paulo teaches the material very clearly and concisely and makes more complex concepts easier to understand. (He also seems to love teaching and students -- he offered more office hours than all the other TFs combined for the final exam and is always accessible to answer questions.) He’s a very engaging TF, and goes the extra mile by preparing his own notes and materials for students (which are really helpful!). He also has an incredible ability to connect with his students and is one of the few teaching staff I’ve met at Harvard who genuinely cares about how his students are doing. He’s a great TF -- both fun and we learn a lot!

Paulo is great at teaching material and generating enthusiasm. I learned more useful information from him on how to solve problems relevant to the problem sets and exams than from professor boycko.

One of the best TF’s I’ve had. He is really organized and wants us all to learn it and do well.

Paulo was simply excellent. Cared as much for us as any TF I’ve ever had. If anything, put too much effort in to accordingly burn out! Am bummed to hear he probably won’t TF more in the future, but understand the decision as he poured so much of himself into this class!

Paulo is a god among men. He is truly an indispensable resource and will go out of his way to help. Harvard would be an amazing place if every TF could be like him. In fact, other TFs could learn a lot from his example. My biggest regret in this class is that I did not use him enough as a resource. Definitely the best TF I have had (and probably ever will have) at Harvard.

<td>Paulo</td>
<td>Cares very much about the success of his students and spends a lot of time outside of class preparing for teaching his sections. Would honestly have done a lot worse in this class if it wasn’t for him.</td>

Paulo Costa is a wonderful section leader because his passion for economics and the success of his students makes every class with him valuable. Paulo's teaching enriched my experience in Intermediate Microeconomics through his addition of real-world examples to the often abstract coursework and his willingness to exceed the requirements of accessibility as a resource for our learning. It has been very helpful to know that he's always willing to help via email when asked and frequently checks in on the progress of the students in his sections to see if he can support us better. I really appreciate how Paulo goes out of his way when teaching to ensure that we (his students) get the most educational value out of the class. I really appreciate how he even took the time to tell me about his experience in an economics study abroad program when I asked about his undergraduate economics experience. Paulo's a true gem to find in any teaching setting and I would enroll in all of his classes if I could!

Paulo always reaches out via email to make sure that everything is okay and that his students understand the material. He also personalizes these messages and is very proactive in determining if a student needs help to achieve their goals for the semester. Furthermore, he always gives constructive feedback.

Paulo went above and beyond as a TF of this class. Really appreciate his help and support throughout the entire semester. Only great things to say.

Paulo is absolutely incredible! His positive energy, enthusiasm, and dedication really made the course for me. He offered more final review hours than all of the other TFs of the course combined. I cannot speak highly enough of Paulo!

Love Paulo! He was the best!

Paulo was the best. He has an in-depth understanding of the course material and explains it well to students.
