Funded Grants & Awards

- 2020 Critical armchair anthropology: Lecture-performing the Zoom webinar
Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, The Film Study Center at Harvard University
PI: Alen Agaronov | $1,500
To perform a live webinar over Zoom on how to adopt remote research methods following the onset of the SARS-CoV-2 pandemic. Four panels of 16 scholars reflected on overcoming spatial, social and temporal distance in research. The purpose of this study was to explore the performativities of “The Webinar Talk.”
- 2020 Survey as prop: A qualitative process evaluation of the implementation of a well-being survey initiative for a population of low-wage factory workers in Torreón
Rose Service-Learning Fellowship, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health
PI: Alen Agaronov | $5,000
To evaluate the implementation of the Harvard Study on Worker Well-being in Global Supply Chains, a survey initiative between Harvard SHINE, the Levi Strauss Foundation, and their apparel manufacturer in Torreón that employs 2,500 low-wage factory workers in four factories. The purpose of this study was to test the initiative’s theories of change.
- 2019 Mediterranean imaginaries: A performance ethnography of the construction of The Mediterranean Diet in the Romantic Period of CVD epidemiology
Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, The Film Study Center at Harvard University
PI: Alen Agaronov | $1,000
To examine the fieldwork experience in an epidemiological study credited for discovering The Mediterranean Diet. A series of methods common to performance ethnography (e.g., Chroma key immersive archival analysis; reenactment) were used to study the construction of the biomedical and holistic representations of The Mediterranean Diet.
- 2018 Conference of the oppressed: Lecture-performing the science poster presentation
Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, The Film Study Center at Harvard University
PI: Alen Agaronov | $1,000
To perform a live poster presentation at the APHA’s annual meeting on the topic of credibility wars in CBPR. A salesman character demonstrated a new technology that promised to convert CBPR practitioners into more legitimate, credible scientists. The purpose of this study was to explore the performativities of “The Science Poster.”
- 2017 Staging the community advisory board: A qualitative process evaluation of a CBPR adaptation of a parent empowerment program for Head Start in Boston
Spencer Foundation, Harvard Graduate School of Education

PI: Alen Agaronov | $5,000

To evaluate the CBPR process in two community advisory boards assigned to adapt and refine Communities for Healthy Living, an NIH-funded parent empowerment intervention between The Chan School, two non-profit agencies, and 30 Head Start centers. The purpose of this study was to test the CBPR project's theories of change.
