Noah Daponte-Smith

Harvard University
Department of Government
CGIS Knafel
Cambridge, MA, 02138

Phone: 203 683 8319
Email: dapontesmith@g.harvard.edu

Education

Ph.D. candidate in Political Science, Harvard University, 2018 - 2023 (expected).

M.A., Political Science, March 2021 GPA: 3.93.

Subfields: Comparative politics and political methodology.

Graduate Affiliate: Institute for Quantitative Social Science; Center for European Studies; Center for American Political Studies

B.A., History and Political Science, Yale University, May 2018.

GPA: 3.87. Cum laude, distinction in both majors.

Research

Working papers

"Voter Localism and Local Economies in Britain."

"Affective Polarization and Democratic Satisfaction among Western Publics"

"Desperation, Sympathy, and Threat: Discussions of Refugees in the United Kingdom." With Reed Rasband.

Works in Progress

"The Role of Geography in the Advanced Democracies" (Dissertation project)

"Does Prejudice Color Citizen Preferences for Immigrant Traits?" With Reed Rasband.

Grants

Institute for Quantitative Social Science, Harvard University. Graduate Research Grant ($1,200).

Experience and Skills

Software and skills

Software: R, Python, Stata, LaTeX, ArcGIS, Qualtrics. Some proficiency in SQL.

Language: French (advanced proficiency).

Teaching experience

GOV 1010, Survey Research Methods, Dr. Chase Harrison, Fall 2021

GOV 1171, "The Making of Modern Politics," Prof. Peter Hall, Spring 2021

GOV 20, "Foundations of Comparative Politics," Prof. Steve Levitsky, Fall 2020

Awards

Certificate of Distinction in Teaching, Spring 2021.

Research assistance

Professors Daniel Smith and Daniel Ziblatt, Harvard University, 2019 - 2021

Last updated: September 15, 2021